Kavala, Greece

We have the pleasure to invite you to the international conference on ‘aspects of Islamic gardens: multi-meanings of paradise’, which will take place in 10 – 12 October 2014 Kavala, Greece.

It is organised by I.M.A.R.E.T. (Institute Mohamed Ali for the Research of the Eastern Tradition) and EMTIT (Eastern Macedonia & Thrace Institute of Technology).

The conference aspires to bring together experts on Islamic culture from fields of arts, history and theory of architecture, landscape architecture, environmental design & engineering, aiming at an interdisciplinary interaction and emergence of new concepts.

The main conference goal is to present and appoint issues on gardens of Islam as precedents for protected and constructed places. More specifically, it wishes to indicate notions and contexts as expressed through cultural narratives, landscape design and natural processes.
